Bring Your Digital Worker Back Together

Every company has the digital worker. A combination of people, devices, applications, and connectivity that powers your business. The digital worker is two things: expensive and fragmented.

The digital worker costs about $3.5 trillion every year:

- $1.3 trillion on communications
- $783 billion on devices
- $1.2 trillion on software

The digital worker is also scattered across:

- Thousands of telecom providers
- A massive range of device types
- Thousands of SaaS applications and vendors

So how do you piece your digital worker back together?

Bringing control, visibility, and trust into the digital worker lifecycle. You do that with central management, instead of silos.

Calero is the only technology expense management provider built to manage the full cost and complexity of the digital worker—today and tomorrow.

How Calero supports every aspect of your digital worker's day-to-day:

- ① Contract & Vendor Strategy
